

TESTIMONIALS

“ We were at the end of our marriage with no hope in sight. The couples weekend changed our lives as well as our marriage. Where there was no hope we now see hope... I've told every military couple I know what a wonderful and heart opening experience we had. I am forever grateful for what they did for us.

“ I got to personally witness the January 2018 Healing Warrior Hearts weekend and was blown away. My only prayer is that 1,000s of Veterans from across the country might someday be able to experience something this profound and transformative.

Healing Warrior Hearts is sponsored by the Starfish Foundation, a 501c3 charitable organization staffed entirely by volunteers. We are deeply committed to healing the emotional wounds of war, for our veterans, for their families, and for our communities.

We are a privately funded organization, approved by GuideStar. Healing Warrior Hearts programs are offered in Wisconsin and Texas. Our programs are free and open to all veterans and their families.

Weekend Retreats

The weekend retreat is designed to give participants an extended experience, from Friday evening through Sunday evening, however, this program is not residential. Participants will return home each evening (unless they have traveled from a distance, in which case we will help to provide lodging and transportation for the weekend). The continuity of the three days allows for a deeper experience of connection and emotional safety.

Veterans can attend these retreats at no cost. We are not however able to provide air transportation. If a veteran is from Wisconsin, we will do all we can to help find transportation to the retreat location.

- ALL MILITARY

War is more than the official theatre of combat.

Beyond physical action, it is a battle of the spirit resulting in moral or spiritual injury and emotional trauma to the military and to the families and friends who support them.

Healing Warrior Hearts guides the wounded to the peace that heals and strengthens their hearts. The gathering of community, unconditional acceptance, and the absence of judgment create the safety required for healing to occur. Veterans will experience a community of support from fellow vets as well as civilians, people committed and willing to listen to the vets' stories with compassion and confidentiality and without judgment, helping heal their hearts.

Everyone is welcome.

Healing Warrior Hearts honors all veterans, of all services, of all times. Whether you served in combat or on the homefront, during times of peace or times of declared war, as a clerk, a mechanic, a medic, special ops or any other MOS, your service was an important part of the military.

We hope that we will have an opportunity to share our programs with you.

Leaders

Patricia Clason, fondly known as the Sergeant Major's Daughter, is the founder of Healing Warrior Hearts. In 1993 she co-founded with Christian Kramer, a Vietnam Veteran, the weekend healing program Bamboo Bridge, for Vietnam Veterans. Christian, Patricia, Jon Christensen (Army), and Chris Mallory (Air Force) are instructors for Healing Warrior Hearts.
